

Chamber Directors Elect Stevenson As Vice President

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

The Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors met Tuesday for its December meeting and elected a new vice president for the coming year. Steve Stevenson was elected by acclamation to serve in 1976 as vice president and then to succeed to the presidency in 1977.

Larry Plum, elected vice president of the Chamber last December, will succeed to the presidency in January.

New members elected recently to the board were also present at the meeting. They are John Fanale, Chaney Vance, Dr. Robert Smith, Walt Garner and Ward Skinner. Both the outgoing members and the new members voted on the new vice president.

Plum opened the nomination session with a reading of the by-laws governing the election of the official. The laws provide that the vice president can be any board member who has two or more years left in his or her term on the board.

Mike Harrison was also nominated for the office but declined the nomination due to other affiliations.

In other business at the Tuesday meeting, present Chamber president T. D. Van Camp acknowledged the retiring board members Tom Bennett, Roger Bennington, Harold Pontius and David Yates. Van Camp is also a retiring board member.

Thanks and acknowledgements were also given to the retiring committee chairmen since Plum will name new chairmen in January.

JoAnn Brink, chairwoman of the Membership Committee, announced that John Farthing and Gene Long, attorneys, and Kathy Henn, owner-operator of The Henn House Restaurant, are new members of the Chamber.

An update on the annual meeting of the Chamber membership to be held Jan. 21 was given by Dr. Nancy Lu Conrad. Dr. Conrad said the meeting would be held at 6:30 p.m. on the date at the 4-H and Grange Building. She presented two menus that had been selected by Hedges Chapel congregation who will serve the banquet. The board voted on the turkey menu as opposed to the ham. Dr. Conrad pointed out that the Chamber would make more money on the turkey dinner since the other alternative would cost more to serve.

Miss Brink, who is also in charge of ticket sales for the annual meeting, distributed tickets to the board members for them to sell. She reminded the board members to urge those purchasing tickets to attend if at all possible since the church would plan so many meals according to the ticket sales. There is a seating capacity in the building of 400.

Stevenson, serving as this year's Legislative Committee chairman, announced that county auditor Margaret Remy would speak to the committee and interested Chamber members on Dec. 15 concerning the real estate re-evaluation.

In closing out the year's business, Van Camp announced his appointment of Mrs. Bonnie Hildenbrand and Dick Hall as an auditing committee to check the books of the Chamber for the year.

He also briefly discussed the happenings in the Chamber during 1975. Results of a survey sent out to Chamber members in December, 1973 were revealed to the board.

Van Camp said at that time members were asked to list five top priority issues each member felt to be the most important. At the end of this year, Van Camp reported 98 of the 115 issues named had received attention and progress had been made.

A committee was named by the president consisting of himself as immediate past president, Plum as incoming president, Stevenson as vice president, Earl Palm as 1975 Budget Committee chairman and the new chairman to be named in January. Van Camp explained that the group would be called the Executive Review Committee.

Palm presented the budget for 1976 amounting to $19,285. The budget which is the same figure as last year's budget was approved by the board. He commented that the dues scheduled was also the same as last year.

In final action during the meeting, the board voted unanimously to re-employ Mrs. Jeanne Ankrom as executive secretary of the Chamber.

Van Camp closed the meeting by thanking Mrs. Ankrom for her cooperation and patience during his term in office.

Tax Cut Extension Pushed; Faces Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bill to extend this year's tax cut heads for action on the House floor where liberals will attempt to end some tax advantages, including the so-called "Perot amendment."

The House is expected to send the bill to the Senate tonight or Thursday. Both chambers face time pressures to finish the tax-cut extension before adjourning for Christmas either Dec. 12 or Dec. 19 because the tax cuts now in effect expire Dec. 31.

Internal Revenue Service Commissioner Donald C. Alexander said Tuesday the government will require employers to increase the amount of taxes withheld from workers' paychecks after Dec. 31 if no taxcut extension has been approved. He ruled out any temporary administrative extension of current tax rates.

The tax-cut bill faces a veto by President Ford, who has said he would send back any bill that fails to tie spending cuts to the tax cut. Such a link was rejected by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Regardless of any tax-revision provisions the House adopts, Sen. Russell Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which must take up the measure in the Senate, has indicated he plans to strip the bill of all but a simple extension of the tax cuts because there is no time left this year to consider revisions.

In a final pitch for House votes for the basic bill, Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, said failure today to sustain the proposed plan of action on some major amendments "could well so prolong the bill's consideration by the House that a tax increase of $1 billion a month will occur on Jan. 1 and our whole effort to achieve meaningful tax reform will be undermined."

The proposed plan of action, as recommended by the House Rules Committee, will allow some amendments to be made from the floor of the House, a step rarely taken because Ways and Means tax legislation usually is offered to the floor only for approval or disapproval. Amendments are frowned upon because of the complexity of the legislation and the economic issues involved.

However, this time the committee's leadership sought to permit some amendments designed to eliminate some tax advantages. One of the targets is expected to be the committee-approved provision that would enable large investors to recoup some of their losses.

The Wall Street Journal has said Texas businessman H. Ross Perot would gain about $15 million in tax refunds if the provision, which was drafted by Perot's lawyer, were enacted. The newspaper also noted that Perot had contributed about $27,000 to the campaigns of 12 members of the 37-person committee.

City's Tree Removal Program Explained To Councilmen

FELLING THE BAD ONES — The Altier and MacCombs Complete Tree Service of Nelsonville and a private, local tree trimming service have been contracted by Circleville to remove trees that, in the opinion of the service department, are structurally unsafe. All the trees are on the public right-of-way, and most are concentrated in the area of S. Court and Ohio Sts. The firms have contracted to remove 34 trees at a cost of $3,700.

Circleville director of public service Atwood Jones Tuesday explained the city's tree cutting program to council.

His explanation was in answer to a letter from Mrs. Frances Young, 124 W. Franklin St., complaining to council because two trees were cut immediately in front of her house.

Mrs. Young stated in the letter the two trees were cut without the city first informing her. According to the letter, the trees had recently been trimmed and filled with cement to preserve them.

Jones said that it is the policy to cut the dead and dying trees on the city right-of-ways that present a potential hazard. Jones admitted it was his mistake when he did not inform Mrs. Young the trees were to be cut. He said it is his policy to notify the property owners involved if trees are to be removed.

However, he explained that he had neglected to notify Mrs. Young since the trees in front of her house were among the first to be removed this year.

Councilman John Jenkins asked

Jones who made the decision to remove the trees. The service director explained that he picked out the dead and dying trees he wanted removed but the final decision was up to the contractor employed to remove them. If the trees do not present a hazard because of their state of decay in the opinion of the contractor they are left standing, Jones said.

Stumps are left standing because of the additional cost of removal. Council appropriated $4,000 this year for the tree removal program.

Jones was criticized by Councilman Jenkins for his policy, reporting that a similar complaint had been received concerning the tree removal program a year ago.

"We need better communication between you and the mayor and the people," Jenkins told the service director.

City solicitor John Adkins explained the liability of the city concerning trees that are on the public right of way. He also told council members that residents who have these trees trimmed and repaired do so at their own risk.

In another communication received by council, the Church of Christ in Christian Union, East Ohio Street, requested the city to vacate Smith Alley from Ohio Street to Monroe Alley.

The request was submitted by the law firm of Leist and Kitchen, attorneys for the church. The Churches of Christ in Christian Union own all adjacent property along the length of the alley for which the vacation is requested. The Church would like to add on to its present building and cannot unless the alley is vacated. The request was referred to the safety and service committees for study.

The legislation passed by council was of the "housekeeping" variety and involved the transfer of funds and permission to advertise for bids.

Four ordinances were approved after a second reading. They were: Transfer of $500 from the sanitary sewer operating fund to the salary and extra help fund within the sanitary sewer department.

Transfer of $1,500 from the street construction maintenance and repair fund to the maintenance of equipment fund in the service department.

Transfer of $2,866 from the water department lands and buildings fund to the office salaries, $200; office supplies, $500; insurance, $166; salaries, $1,500; vehicle maintenance, $500.

Ford Continues In-Depth Talks

PEKING (AP) — President Ford and China's acting premier held a significant talk "covering a wide range of international issues" today, the White House reported.

It was the second business meeting between the visiting American leader and First Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping. The White House said the session on the third day of Ford's five-day visit to China lasted 2½ hours, half an hour longer than their first meeting on Tuesday.

"Significant" was also the word which Ford as well as the Chinese used to describe the President's talk Tuesday with Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

"It was a significant conversation," the President told newsmen. "It covered a very wide range of matters involving the international scene as well as our bilateral relations."

Neither the President nor other sources gave any information about what the 81-year-old Chinese leader discussed. But it was assumed that he emphasized his government's fear that Soviet-American detente is being construed by Moscow as a green light for Soviet expansion in Asia.

Mao made small talk with Ford, his wife and daughter and seven American officials for 15 minutes, then sat down for an hour and 35 minutes of discussion with the President, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and three of their aides. A Chinese communique said they had "earnest and significant discussions ... on wide-ranging issues in a friendly atmosphere."

Mrs. Ford told newsmen Mao's eyes "lighted up quite brightly" when he saw the Fords' 18-year-old daughter, Susan. But a color film of the meeting televised in Peking today showed that Mao gave his biggest welcome to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, whom he had met three times previously.

Shaking with laughter, the Chinese leader vigorously pumped the beaming Kissinger's hand for half a minute. He pointed with his left hand to Ford as he made some remarks. But the film was silent, and there was no report of what he said.

When he said good-bye, Mao again shook Kissinger's hand demonstratively and held it much longer than he did those of Ford or the three other American officials who sat in on the talk.

"It was exciting, a surprise," said Mrs. Ford. "I was impressed at his strength and his health. He looked exactly like his pictures."

She said she told Mao "it was a great honor for him to receive us."

Mao, who will be 82 on Dec. 26, has been reported to have difficulty speaking since a stroke, and Mrs. Ford was asked whether he could be clearly understood.

"Some of it was very clear, and some was perhaps hard to understand," she said.

Heavy Rain Continues In Northwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rain that has plagued the Northwest continued into today with heavy downpours over the western half of Washington. Snow flurries, occasionally mixed with rain, continued in the northern Rockies.

On Tuesday, flood waters surged through the streets of many towns in western Washington while mud and snow slides forced the closing of some of the state's major highways.

At least 250 families were evacuated from their homes and a mayor and one county official asked to have their districts designated disaster areas.

The heavy rain was expected to slack off, causing the rivers to recede slowly.

Below-zero temperatures reached the Arrowhead region of Minnesota early this morning. Frost stretched from the northern half of the plains into the Ohio Valley and the mountains of South Carolina.

In the West, temperatures were in the 40s and 50s in the Pacific Coast-states and cooler in the higher elevations.

Clouds covered the northern plains, the Great Lakes states and the Ohio Valley. Snow flurries swirled in the upper Mississippi Valley and along the lower Great Lakes. And patches of fog formed during the night over a portion of the central plains.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Selling battered the stock market again today amid economic worries and disappointment at the failure of the market to rally following last week's agreement on a save-New York City plan.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, off 13.14 on Tuesday, had tumbled another 13.70 points to 829.50 by noon today. Losers swamped gainers by about a 10-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers noted spreading concern over the durability of the economic recovery that began in the third quarter. In a report that reached Wall Street today, New York's First National City Bank forecast minimal growth in the economy over the next couple of quarters, although it did foresee a pickup in the pace later next year.

Sony was the Big Board volume leader, down 3/4 at 10 1/2 in trading that included a 50,000-share block at 10 1/2.

The NYSE's composite index fell .73 to 46.49, and the American Stock Exchange market value index was down .83 at 83.25.

City's Tree . . .

Transfer of police department funds in the following manner: $350 from LEADS Machine Account to incidentals; transfer of $600 from the street painting to maintenance of equipment; transfer of $100 from furniture and fixtures to maintenance of equipment account.

An ordinance for the transfer of $151.80 from the fire department personnel training account to the fire department clothing account was tabled. Ed Ebert, city safety director, requested the legislation be tabled and said another ordinance will be presented at the next meeting of council for a lesser amount.

Fire Chief Mike Brown had requested the transfer to make up an $83 deficit in the account and to provide additional funds to purchase a blazer type jacket for the chief. When he asked why his request was turned down, it was explained to him the transfer for the deficit would be authorized but not to purchase the blazer. Council President Joe Bell told Brown such a purchase should be made from his regular clothing allowance of $75.

In other action approved Tuesday, $1,000 was transferred within the accounts of the Municipal Court; $18,600 was transferred from the federal revenue sharing trust to the fire department payroll account; and the following amounts were transferred from the general fund:

$200 to clerk hire, auditor's office, $195 to janitor hire; $175 to the acting judges account of municipal court; $192 to the clerk municipal court account; $225 to the deputy clerks account, Municipal Court; $681 to bailiff and acting bailiffs, municipal court; $275 to extra help, municipal court, $60 to incidentals, $1,500 to telephone, fuel, power and water, $6,785.26 to the police and firemen pension fund.

Safety director Ebert was authorized to advertise for bids for petroleum products for the police department for the year 1976.

Council members present for the meeting were Dixie Watters, Ben Gordon, David Crawford, Tom Wells, David Goldschmidt, John Jenkins, Harold Hoffman and president Joe Bell, clerk Robert Shadley. Also present were solicitor John Adkins, Mayor Frank Barnhill, service and safety directors and public utilities director Charles Taylor and fire chief Mike Brown.

In his report to council, Taylor noted the city sewage treatment plant is nearly 50 per cent completed. He also said that work should begin on the new south end water tower within two weeks. Completion date for the water tower project is October.

The service director reported the electric company is still in the process of acquiring rights of way for street lighting in the Garden City addition and has completed plans for pole location for the lights. Jones also said he had recently attended a meeting on community block development grants and said a joint application with the county for a senior citizens center at the fairgrounds would not affect any other projects the city may have.

Jones noted that last year there were 17 projects submitted from a four-county area for block development grants and both projects approved were in Pickaway County.

Councilman Watters informed Jones that drainage in an alley between Pickaway and Washington Streets was so poor the trash haulers would no longer pick up the refuse from residents in the area if placed at the rear of their homes. Jones said some fill material has been placed in the alley but he will look at it again to see if any additional fill is needed.

Councilman Goldschmidt invited councilman elect Glen Steve Jones to attend the Friday meeting of the Finance Committee when the annual appropriation budget will be finalized.

Terrorists Demands Rejected By Dutch

BEILEN, The Netherlands (AP) — Five Indonesians holding about 50 hostages aboard a hijacked train stranded in northern Holland opened fire on a would-be mediator today and released a Chinese cook with new demands.

More than 150 armed men ringed the train but kept out of range. Two persons were killed aboard the train shortly after the hijacking, and the men in the cordon made no attempt to get aboard.

The Chinese cook brought a message demanding an engineer for the train, food and drink for 55 persons, a bullhorn and medicine for an epileptic and a diabetic, officials said.

The hijackers opened fire on an official who drove toward the train in an attempt to open negotiations. One shot hit within 10 yards of the car, and the driver pulled back.

The Indonesians released four persons shortly after they took over the train, and three others escaped by jumping off. But police said a report that two other hostages jumped off and hid apparently was incorrect.

The Dutch government rejected an earlier demand from the hijackers that they be given safe conduct out of the country with some of their hostages. Justice Minister Dries Van Agt said Tuesday night that "under no circumstances" would the hijackers be allowed to leave the country with hostages.

Armed with pistols and a hunting rifle, the Indonesians seized the four-coach local train Tuesday, killed the engineer and another man and took the passengers hostage, officials reported.

The train was standing on the track in an open field, ringed by police, marine commandos and army marksmen. But they stayed 650 yards from the train because the Indonesians were "shooting at anything that moves," a police spokesman said.

Officials said the gang attached dynamite to the train and threatened to blow it up unless their demands were met.

The hijackers were reported to be militant exiles from the South Molucca or Spice Islands, the scene of an unsuccessful revolt against Indonesia in 1950. It was believed that they were trying to call attention to the South Moluccan independence movement.

Three women released from the train with a 3-year-old child shortly after the hijacking brought the police a demand for transportation to Amsterdam's Schiphol Airport, 90 miles away, and a plane to fly the hijackers out of the country with an unspecified number of hostages.

Another demand apparently was for two transistor radios. But when a policeman stripped of his underwear and tried to take them to the train, the hijackers warned him off. An official said several passengers aboard the train were known to have radios.

About 40,000 South Moluccans are living in The Netherlands. Members of the independence movement seized the Indonesian Embassy in The Hague in 1970 during a visit by President Suharto and took eight hostages, including members of the ambassador's family.

In other Arab-Israeli developments: —President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, in China, sent messages to Israeli leaders in an attempt to reassure them of U.S. intentions after the United States failed to block the promise of Palestinian participation in the Security Council debate.

Sources in Washington said Kissinger had promised "in principle" last week to veto the Palestinian participation.

A new counselor has been added to the staff of Scioto Paint Valley Guidance Center. Mark Feigenbaum will be working in individual, group, and family counseling.

Feigenbaum received a bachelor's degree in psychology from Cleveland State University in June, 1973 and his master's degree in Counseling Psychology from Ball State University, Muncie, Ind., last May. He has had practical experience in counseling at the Aquarius Drug House in Muncie, and was involved in group counseling in the Muncie schools.

He has also worked as a rehabilitation counselor at the Cleveland House of Corrections.

Feigenbaum's position will be funded through federal funds provided by Medicare, Medicaid, and Title XX, a new social services program.

Hostages Held By Paris Gunmen

PARIS (AP) — Gunmen took a group of people hostage inside a bank near the Eiffel Tower after an attempted holdup today and demanded $2 million ransom and a getaway car, police said.

A passer-by was wounded in the foot in a burst of gunfire as the bandits entered the Credit Lyonnais Bank on Avenue Bosquet. A number of gunshots also were heard from inside the bank. The intruders also fired on a police car.

The exact number of gunmen and their hostages was not known. The police spokesman said the holdup men had demanded that the getaway car be brought to them after dark and that the ransom money be in U.S. currency. He said no direct threats had been made against the hostages.

The gunmen entered the bank late in the morning, only seconds ahead of armed guards of the Brink's money transporting company, who arrived routinely and followed the gunmen inside. The gunmen then grabbed the hostages.

After first contact between Commissioner Robert Broussard, assistant chief of France's antigang squad, and the gunmen, police tow trucks moved in to clear parked cars away from the street near the bank.

Earlier today, two gunmen escaped with the equivalent of $22,700 after holding a dozen staff and clients at gunpoint in a country bank at Rozay en Brie southeast of Paris.

Last September, two gunmen got $1.3 million ransom after holding seven hostages for a day in another central Paris bank. They eluded police in a high-speed chase through Paris.

Six persons were later arrested and charged with complicity in the holdup, but the money has not been recovered and the six have yet to go on trial.

Coal Restrictions Hit By Executives

CLEVELAND (AP)—A coal company executive says vast coal reserves could solve this country's energy crisis but "for a variety of reasons we can't mine it, we can't ship it and we can't burn it."

Herbert Richey, president of the Valley Camp Coal Co. and vice chairman of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said there are more BTU's in the coal under Wyoming and Montana "than the Sheiks have...in their oil under the Arabian Peninsula."

He said coal is so plentiful it could supply the nation's needs for centuries. "We can't mine it because environmental hysteria sees the surface mining of coal as the rape of North America," Richey told a symposium at Case Western Reserve University on "energy alternatives for Ohio."

He said Congress "and a number of state legislatures continue to dally with restrictive surface mining legislation and the Department of the Interior, which leases coal tracts on public lands, hasn't let a new coal lease in more than three years."

Richey said the opposition to strip mining stems from the scars left by earlier mining operations.

"Although the coal industry is today reclaiming more acres than it is disturbing," he said, "the excesses of another mining generation have left a bad taste in the public's mouth...."

"Hence, we have serious efforts in Congress and state legislatures to ban and-or severely restrict surface mining at the very moment when surface mining's product is needed most."

Even when you mine coal "and find the rail cars to ship it," Richey said, "the potential consumers are reluctant to buy it because the government may not let them burn it under the restrictive criteria of the Clean Air Act."

"Congress is slowly going through the motions of amending this act, but thus far we've seen little willingness to make the sort of changes that will allow the full utilization of coal."

Richey said coal is "one answer to the energy crisis — perhaps even THE answer — but its full utilization will demand great changes in our national policies towards the mining, shipping and use of this resource."

To make the necessary legislative changes and provide the materiel needed to double coal output, he said, would take "the sort of commitment to coal that we've made to the achievement of other national objectives such as victory in World War II, landing Neil Armstrong on the moon, and the development of nuclear power."

Moving Off Dead Center

It appears that Congress may need a shove to get off dead center on extension of federal revenue sharing, with action needed before expiration of the present program at the end of 1976.

Unfortunately, politics appears to be raising its head, with some Democrats hesitant to approve an extension because the plan was started by a Republican president. No one can deny that there have been some flaws in the program, as there will always be in such a wide-ranging program.

However, the nation's smaller political subdivisions desperately need revenue sharing to keep their heads above water.

In many instances, local tax setups have been smashed by the voters, who, unable to act on the national level, have chosen local levies and taxes as a means of protest against the ever-bigger bite in their income.

We strongly urge members of Congress to get a move on, and approve revenue sharing for another period of time.

Your Letter, Mr. President

By JIM BISHOP

Dear Mr. President: Thank you for the kind note asking me for money. I appreciate it. You must concede that it is overwhelming for a little guy like me to get a personal letter from a President of the United States — even when he is putting the bee on for a hundred.

You are not going to get a dime from me, but you will be consoled to learn that no one else is either. Under your economic policy and that of your predecessor, my savings have shrunk more than 30 per cent.

I am poorer and wiser. Until now, I looked upon myself as a political independent. It's a phrase to define someone who is confused. In my condition, I see no leadership anywhere.

If I sound bitter, Mr. President, it's because I am. When you assumed office I said, "Whee! Here comes a breath of fresh air!" I love that big boyish smile. I said to Kelly, "This is the kind of man we'd invite home to dinner."

BETWEEN TALKING AND DOING

You still are. You and I could talk politics and sports right into the ground. Sadly, there's a difference between talking and doing. No one can blame you for the onset of inflation, unemployment and crime, but we hired you to do something about them.

I suggest that you cannot expect the votes of 8.1 million Americans out of work. Do you anticipate the endorsement of 20 million others who retired thinking that they would live in clover on a pension and Social Security?

In your letter to me, you state: "Since becoming President, I have tried to achieve many things. Among them are holding the line of government spending to reduce inflation, a strong national defense, less government regulation, and a national energy program to prevent us from being at the mercy of foreign energy suppliers."

"As you know, many of these efforts and other positive steps have been thwarted by a Congress heavily controlled by the Democrats. In some instances the Congress has turned a deaf ear; in others it has written its own extravagant legislation."

"I have had to employ the veto over 30 times to stem this tide of irresponsible legislation. However, Mr. Bishop, you and I know that this is only a temporary solution."

Mr. President, don't you think that statement is specious? Blaming the other political party for the ills of the nation is the oldest political ploy known to man.

I remember: (1) when you said you didn't want to be President; (2) when you said you wanted the job; (3) when you braved the anger of the country by pardoning a man who said he had done no wrong — but who accepted the pardon; (4) when you warned us not to elect a "veto-proof Congress"; (5) when you fought the Democratic Congress and beat them with your veto; (6) in most cases, your program won or we had no program.

I have spent at least half the years of my life writing books about Presidents of the U.S. This does not make me a politician; it merely sharpens my sight as an observer of men.

MORE RUNNING THAN WORKING

Most sitting Presidents have a choice of two occupations — running the country or running for office. Each man has an option. As the first appointed President, you have been doing more running for office than working to solve our problems.

Take paragraph six of your letter: "What America needs is a Republican Congress working for Republican goals. Unless more Republicans are elected in 1976, inflation and excessive deficit spending will continue."

Under our two-party system, do you truly believe that either party is pledged to take our nation down the drain? Of course not. There are wise and far-seeing men among the Republicans and among the Democrats. There is also a sprinkling of crooked politicians, selfish men and political dwarfs in both parties.

Your letter closes: "I look forward to Chairman Vander Jagt's report to me on the results of this appeal, Mr. Bishop." This, I am sure, is not a threat. It's a bad choice of sentence structure.

I don't even like the folksy signature: "Jerry Ford." To me, until the hour of noon, Jan. 20th, 1977, you are "Gerald Ford, President of the United States." . . .

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As David Lilienthal assesses the condition of America there is a tremendous waste of human resources, an inaction, a negativism, a timidity of leadership, public and private, that is lamentable.

That, he said, is not the way to build the country, a country he suggests is still in a relatively early state of development.

"If we make up our mind, get the lead out, we'll find this is the greatest underdeveloped country in the world, and that it doesn't have to be timid and fearful of growth," he said. We are holding ourselves back, he added.

"We talk about the energy problem and conserving energy while we waste the basic energy, human energy, through unemployment and through lack of a massive program of across-the-board improvement of human skills," he said.

Lilienthal, 76, former chairman and chief architect of the Tennessee Valley Authority and later first chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, views many attitudes today to be a contraction of America's "can do" spirit.

"When you have to do things in this country some of the 'impossible' things happen," he said in an interview at his midtown office, after more than two years of what he described as growing impatience with inaction.

When the nation had to turn out aircraft in World War II it did so — somehow; when TVA had to build 12 dams simultaneously the dams got built; and energy and other developmental challenges can be met equally well, he said, if we just get moving.

The "defensive, overly critical" spirit that prevails, he said, is unbending. "Most people aren't happy with the pride of their country being questioned; there is a latent, underlying optimism, and it must be released."

He continued: "This country isn't done. The 'limits of growth doctrine' is phoney," he declared flatly, maintaining it emerged from a continent where "France has its tongue hanging out and the European Russians are still dependent on the United States for food."

"This country is dead if it adopts the European style, the negative attitude toward growth," he said. "We should appreciate the basic dynamics of this country and forget our roots in Europe."

To Lilienthal, an "energy shortage" results from an underuse of human energy. Human energy, "drive, brainpower, creativity, imagination," puts other energy to work for human use.

Utilize this energy, he said, and you solve the problems of producing power for factories and homes, as well as the other essentials of life, including the development of a rich culture and sound government.

TVA didn't change people from being powerless, dispirited people by saving energy, he said. "It came from the use of energy," human energy in conjunction with the raw energy latent in the area.

His own company, Development and Resources Corp., has for the past 20 years worked on the large scale, integrated development of resources throughout the world. His experience: Human energy is the catalyst.

To develop the underutilized natural resources of this country, he said, will take spirit and leadership — human energy. And where will it come from?

In his view it is there, stored as if in batteries, diffused throughout the nation, in local communities and private organizations. There, he said, is where leadership resides — not condensed in what are thought to be great centers of power.

The mood of the country, he said, "can be turned around much sooner than you think," but not, he added, by government fiat or in fact by any one leader, but instead by local leaders demonstrating through specific projects what can be done.

An example: "The environmental movement is today a major political force, the biggest since Populism. It began with housewives, organized by ordinary people seeking to protect their land. It didn't begin at the top."

He concluded: "Speeches and rhetoric won't do it. Summit conferences won't do it. It takes something that happens almost literally in people's own backyards — demonstrations in a small way of private power."

Those little accomplishments and the spirit that directs them is contagious, he said, so much so that even the "power centers" eventually have to take notice.

Woman Charged In Tot's Abduction

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A woman charged with kidnapping the infant with whom she was babysitting was distraught over suffering a miscarriage, police said.

They said Deborah A. Knox, 25, was arrested Monday at her home where Michael Johnson, born Nov. 19 to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, was found unharmed. The baby was reported missing Wednesday.

Police said a tip to the sheriff's office led them to the Knox woman's home.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 3, the 337th day of 1975. There are 28 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1967, surgeons at a Cape Town, South Africa hospital reported a successful human heart transplant, the first of its kind.

On this date: In 1808, Madrid surrendered to French forces under Napoleon. In 1818, the former Confederate President, Jefferson Davis, was put on trial for treason in the U.S. Circuit Court for Virginia.

In 1894, the Scottish writer, Robert Louis Stevenson, died in Samoa. In 1944, in World War II, American troops crossed the Saar River in Germany.

In 1962, London was blanketed by one of the worst fogs in years. Scores of people died of sulphur dioxide poisoning before the fog lifted four days later.

In 1964, police at Berkeley arrested 796 University of California students in removing demonstrators from the school administration building.

Ten years ago: The National Council of Churches called for a halt in the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam long enough to create more favorable circumstances for peace negotiations. Five years ago: The U.S. Senate rejected any new government spending for development of a supersonic transport plane.

One year ago: The U.S. Senate and House of Representatives voted overwhelmingly to override President Ford's veto of a bill to increase educational benefits for veterans since the end of the Korean War.

Today's birthday: Singer Maria Callas is 52 years old.

Thought for today: To be 70 years young is sometimes far more cheerful and hopeful than to be 40 years old — Oliver Wendell Holmes, American writer, 1809-1894.

Bicentennial footnote: 200 years ago today at Philadelphia, the first official American flag was hoisted aboard a ship by the naval officer, John Paul Jones. The yellow flag displayed a rattlesnake and the words: Don't tread on me."

Hoosier Farmers Aided By Weather

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Hoosier farmers have had some of the most favorable fall working conditions in recent years, according to a Purdue University agriculture report.

Thanks to the excellent conditions, the corn harvest is nearly complete and field operations are far ahead of the 1974 pace. The weekly crop-weather report also noted that topsoil and subsoil moisture are mostly adequate.

The corn harvest is 97 per cent complete, compared with a 75 per cent figure at this time last year. The average is 80 per cent.

Fields still to be picked are generally on tight, poorly drained soils that require a hard freeze before heavy equipment can enter.

LAFF - A - DAY

"Do I interrupt when you're listening to the news on TV?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

How should an educated consumer react to the sales pitch of drugs that can be purchased over the counter? It seems that every other TV commercial touts the advantage of one drug over another.

Mr. J. S., Mich.

Dear Mr. S.:

I am aware of the subtle and not-so-subtle advertising that seems to overwhelm the TV viewer.

Always the scene opens on an impressive book-lined study which implies that there is unquestionable scientific validity to a statement that is about to be made.

The deep, sincere, convincing voice

Plant Blast Defendant Clairvoyant?

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The brother of the Rev. David N. Bubar, one of 10 men accused of plotting to destroy a Shelton factory, told a federal court jury Tuesday the defendant has clairvoyant and prophetic powers.

David Bubar, a minister from Memphis, Tenn., told several persons in February that catastrophe would befall the Sponge Rubber Products Co., where he was a consultant.

He and eight others are being tried on arson-related charges stemming from a March 1 explosion and fire that destroyed a $10 million building at the company.

A 10th defendant has pleaded guilty and testified for the state.

The Rev. Benjamin Bubar of China, Maine, a presidential candidate on the Prohibition Party ticket, said his brother occasionally was spanked as a child for predicting the arrival of unexpected visitors or revealing occurrences in other towns.

He said the defendant predicted three years ago his brother would become involved in politics last summer, as the Maine minister did when he decided to run for president.

The minister was among a half-dozen witnesses to testify about Bubar's powers as the trial entered its defense stage this week.

Judge Jon O. Newman called off testimony for Wednesday to allow Bubar's attorney, Rudolph L. Zalowitz, visit his wife in a New Jersey hospital where he said she was admitted for cancer treatment Thanksgiving day.

Zalowitz withdrew a request to be absent for a week after Bubar objected to having another lawyer represent him temporarily, as Newman had proposed when Zalowitz made the request.

Sisters Face Gambling Trial

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Franklin County prosecutor's office said Tuesday Mae Diana, 47, of Columbus, and Rosnell Susi, 53, of suburban Minerva Park, will go on trial in about a month on four-year-old second-offense gambling charges.

Scheduling of the trial follows the U.S. Supreme Court's refusal Monday to the sisters' argument that they were placed in double jeopardy when a grand jury indicted them.

The women, sisters of reputed numbers king Frank Baldasarro, appealed after the Ohio Supreme Court and 10th District Court of Appeals ruled the constitutional guarantee against double jeopardy did not apply in this case.

Second offense felony gambling charges, carrying long prison terms, were lodged against the women in 1971 after they were convicted in Municipal Court of misdemeanor gambling charges and served 30 days in the workhouse.

Halcyon Skinner, 1824-1900, born at Mantua, Portage County, Ohio, devised most of the carpet-weaving machinery now in use.

that brings this new "scientific breakthrough" to the American people has the hallmark of "medical authority." The dark horn-rimmed glasses are meticulously set aside while the world waits to hear about the dramatic difference between laxatives, cold remedies, anti-allergy drugs or pain killers.

Almost always there is the impression that these products have been extensively tested against similar ones, by doctors, hospitals, universities and research laboratories.

Mind you, these advertisers must stay within the boundaries of the law and the limitations imposed on them by Better Business Bureaus and health agencies.

Yet the consumer alone can be self-protecting if he seeks the advice of his doctor about any one of the drugs that seems to tempt him.

I frequently awake with a stiffness of the neck. It lasts for a day or two, then disappears. I am 46. My doctor finds nothing wrong with my neck or spine.

Mrs. G. B., Nev.

Dear Mrs. B.:

In the absence of any disease of the spine and in the absence of a neurological problem, the possibility is that you may be subject to a spasm, irritation or inflammation of the muscles of the neck. This is known as "myositis."

Exposure to a draft, or a cramped position in bed, may be the cause of repeated bouts of this painful condition.

If this is the reason, the use of heat with an electric pad or any of the other heat retaining devices reduces the pain and helps speed the recovery.

Hot showers are especially comforting. Drugs to relieve the spasm and simple pain-killers, are most effective.

You might try another type of pillow to be certain that no undue pressure is being put on neck muscles while you sleep.

Your good words and deeds were of more comfort to us than you can imagine. The prompt arrival of the police along with their efficient handling of this accident and their concern for our safety deserves our praise.

Dear Editor:

Being a graduate of old Clarksburg High (and I do mean old), I'm an Adena follower and was pleased to see our girls volleyball champs pictured in The Herald.

The win figures for the Warrior Girls are what are really amazing though. All their athletic teams, track, volleyball and basketball, give or take a couple of victories, have won 79 consecutive athletic contests, including two state championships in less than six months (the state championships are track and volleyball).

And coach Marvin Seyfang's won-loss record in volleyball is 101-9. Since his track teams haven't lost since finishing second in an invitational meet in 1972, the track record may be even more astonishing.

Xenia Bus Line
At End Of Road

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Xenia's 18-month-old transit system, spawned by the city's April 3, 1974 tornado, is going out of business at the end of this month. The city fathers decided Monday they can't afford to keep the X-Line system which was set up with federal funds as a demonstration project for small cities. Xenia was to have assumed half of the annual cost of $400,000 starting the first of next year, with federal funds to make up the rest. Voters in the Greene County community refused Nov. 4 to approve an increase in the city income tax that could have kept the system's 10 buses running, officials said.

Criminal Code Changes Dead This Year

Car Output
To Increase

DETROIT (AP) — The four U.S. auto makers have scheduled December production in line with fourth quarter estimates the companies made in September. The auto makers said Monday they will produce a total of 553,400 passenger cars this month. Early this fall, the companies put total fourth quarter production at 1.9 million. Each of the companies has scheduled increased output compared to a year ago, when they laid off many workers and closed some plants during the new-car buying slump. Chrysler Corp. said it will build 69,000 passenger cars, five times as many as it produced last December. Last year, Chrysler closed five of its six assembly plants to bring dealer inventories under control. General Motors Corp. said it will produce 333,000 cars this month, up 55 per cent from last year. Ford Motor Co. is scheduling 128,000, up 18.5 per cent, while American Motors Corp. is planning on 23,400 passenger cars, up 25 per cent.

Judiciary Committee where major amendments will be offered. The committee's subcommittee on criminal laws and procedures, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., completed its final draft of the proposed criminal code more than a month ago. McClellan and other sponsors had hoped for full committee action on it before the present session of Congress ends around mid-December, but they now acknowledge there is no prospect of this. One reason is the extraordinary size and complexity of the measure and the controversy over some of its provisions. The report on the measure by McClellan's subcommittee runs more than 1,300 pages. In addition, the Judiciary Committee may be tied up for much of the time left in the present session with President Ford's nomination to fill the Supreme Court vacancy left by the retirement of Justice William O. Douglas. McClellan said he sees virtually no possibility that any progress can be made on the bill before the next session of Congress. This will throw the controversy into an election year. However, McClellan said that as a member of the commission appointed by the late President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1967 to propose a federal criminal code, he wants to give the Senate an opportunity to vote on the legislation.

Companion measures have been introduced in the House, and the Judiciary Committee there has said it will start hearings two weeks after the Senate completes action. McClellan, and Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., ranking minority member of the criminal laws and procedures subcommittee, have said they expect the bill to be amended further. But they and other sponsors, as well as opponents of some provisions, emphasize the desirability of pulling all the federal criminal laws into a single code. Hruska recently noted, for example, that there are more than 70 different provisions on theft alone in present law. Definitions and penalties vary, depending on whether the theft was from the mails, a bank, an employee welfare plan and so on.

He also cited other overlaps so that a criminal act often is punishable under many different sections of existing law. A major purpose of the legislation is to overcome problems of this kind by clarifying, updating and consolidating criminal laws now scattered through 11 volumes of federal statutes. "Those who would defeat the bill would have us return to present law, with its outdated, inadequate, irrational, unjust, and piecemeal disarray," Hruska said. Opponents do not quarrel with the objective of establishing a federal crime code for the first time. Their disagreement is with specific provisions that they argue go too far or do not go far enough.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Their Church Is The World

DEAR ABBY: My mother died in a hospital a year ago, and one thing still bothers me.

I wish all those ministers and priests who go around to visit the sick would not tell them they should prepare to meet their God.

This happened to my mother, and she said she had no idea she was going to die. She did, of course, but I just know that had it not been for the minister's visits, my mother would have lived longer. She just gave up hope.

In the first place, the minister shouldn't even have visited my mother because she didn't belong to his church. She was an American Indian and didn't belong to ANY church.

We Indians believe that our church is the whole world. In all Good Books, it says, "The Lord created heaven and earth," so we worship any time, any place-not in a building, only once a week. And there is never a collection plate. Worship is free.

If you think this will help people to understand the faith of the American Indians, please put this in your column. Thank you.

JIMMY LITTLE TURTLE
HARRISBURG, PA.

DEAR JIMMY: I do and I will. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: My fiancé and I are planning our wedding for next spring. All of those I've selected for my bridesmaids have accepted. My problem: Two of the girls are very overweight.

After attending a wedding not long ago where four bridesmaids were overweight and four were slim, I decided I didn't want these heavy girls to be in my wedding. The procession was terrible. Fat, skinny, fat, skinny fat, skinny and finally fat, skinny.

I just can't let my fat friends ruin my wedding. I know I should have thought of it before I asked them, but I didn't. Abby, this will be hard for me since we've all grown up together. How can I tell the news to my two fat friends without hurting their feelings?

FAT-FREE WEDDING
DEAR FAT-FREE: You can't. And if you are that hung up on having uniformly slim bridesmaids, hire professional models. You've made your commitments. Stick with them.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a mail carrier, and I'm sure very few people know what their mailmen have to contend with. For example: With the crime rate so high, many people keep mean dogs to protect their property.

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

Thoroughly drain potatoes before deep-fat frying them. Excessive moisture in food being cooked in deep fat helps break it down and shortens its frying life. Excessive moisture also makes fat foam too much and there's a danger of it boiling over.

Ohio Supreme Court Ruling Has Little Effect On Civil Rights

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio Supreme Court ruling which had the potential for crippling the Ohio Civil Rights Commission has in fact barely crimped the commission's style.

The ruling said that corporations could not be compelled to testify against themselves in commission proceedings. The ruling had the potential of barring the commission from seeking records of companies suspected of discrimination.

But the commission made an end run around the decision by getting another court decision that the Supreme Court ruling applied only in housing cases, not in cases alleging discrimination in employment or public accommodations.

And attorneys say housing is the one area where records are not critical in proving a discrimination case.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Jack Ruzicho, the commission's chief counsel, said the decision went against the general rule that corporations are not entitled to Fifth Amendment rights.

The Ohio court based its ruling on the wording of the statute setting up the commission. The statute defines a corporation as a "person," and later says that "no person shall be compelled to be a witness against himself."

Ruzicho said after that decision, legal researchers determined that self-incrimination privileges apply only in criminal cases.

Housing is the only type of discrimination carrying a criminal penalty—a $100 to $500 fine. Discrimination in employment or accommodations is handled by a civil court action, such as a cease and desist order.

Armed with that research, Ruzicho said, the commission got a ruling from the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court that the Supreme Court ruling could be invoked only in housing cases.

Since 90 to 95 per cent of the commission's cases are on employment, the brunt of the court's ruling was deflected, Ruzicho said. The commission still could demand employment records to determine if a pattern of discrimination existed.

Ruzicho said housing cases still can be made without records.

"Usually what happens is a black or a female goes (for an apartment) and gets turned down. Then a white 'checker' goes with the same fact story and gets the apartment.

"It's a pretty strong case of discrimination," he said.

The only drawback, he said, is that sometimes the commission cannot get records which would tend to exonerate landlords and ends up prosecuting a case without merit, wasting state

Income Tax Hike Urged At Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A one-half per cent increase in the city's payroll income tax will be recommended by Mayor Harry Kessler.

In his state of the city address this week, Kessler said he will ask voters to approve at the November 1976 election an increase of the city's 1.5 per cent payroll tax to 2 per cent.

He expected the increase would bring in an additional $2 million in annual revenues to be added to the $34.2 million estimated to be received next year.

Kessler said the tax increase is inevitable. Without an increase, he said, Toledo will face a deficit of up to $6 million in 1977 as compared to the $3 million and 500 layoffs estimated for 1976.

money.

A bill is pending in the legislature to completely remove Fifth Amendment rights from corporations. Ruzicho said he hopes it will pass early next year.

Mayors Disagree Over Busing

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The most widespread agreement among the nation's city officials is that they disagree so fundamentally on school busing that they dare not try to take a stand on it as a group.

As court-ordered busing to achieve racial integration emerged as a volatile issue in the 1970s, both the National League of Cities and its sister organization, the U.S. Conference of Mayors, avoided in each year, including this one, issuing any policy statement on school busing as a desegregation tool.

The league represents 15,000 cities and the conference speaks for those cities with more than 30,000 residents.

At the Conference of Mayors meeting last July in Boston, the city executives said not a word about busing even though 30 floors above them in the same hotel, 100 antibusing demonstrators led by Louise Day Hicks seized Mayor Kevin White's suite for most of a day. They also ignored antibusing protesters who marched and chanted outside the hotel during most of the conference.

The education policy drafted by the league at its convention here this week says only that disruptions brought about by desegregation attempts should be the concern of school officials and the business community as well as of school boards. It does not mention either "mayors" or "busing."

At most meetings of urban officials, proponents of either probusing or antibusing resolutions are deflected or dissuaded by their colleagues either in closed-door sessions or in committee meetings.

At this week's league convention, both Democratic and Republican caucuses declined to adopt resolutions explicitly discussing busing despite efforts to do so in both groups.

Many city officials have said over the last six years that they shouldn't get involved because it is an issue for independent school boards, whether elected or appointed.

Others, most of whom will speak only off the record, admit that the city officials are doubtful they could reach any compromise position and are convinced that an effort to do so could consume most of their time at their annual convention if the issue were taken up in debate.

Think Fumes Caused Fatal Fire Blast

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Massillon Fire Chief Michael Bednar says investigators think "accumulated vapors" from gasoline used to burn La Cuisina restaurant caused a tremendous explosion that wrecked the building and killed three firemen.

Bednar said Tuesday investigators had found in the wreckage several "white plastic five-gallon containers" believed to have been used for gasoline and "leading officials to believe aggravated arson was the cause" of the Sunday night fire.

Two other persons injured in the explosion remained in area hospitals. Fire Capt. Joseph Glosien was listed in fair condition, and Norman Reader, a nearby resident who went to help firemen after a first, small explosion touched off a fire at La Cuisina, was reported in satisfactory condition.

Glosien and Reader said they were at the west side of the restaurant when the wall collapsed in that second blast. Both were buried.

"The sad part was I could hear the others that were trapped calling for help," Glosien said. "I don't know which voices were which."

"We'll get out," I called to them. I knew they were right near by," he added.

He said he could hear rescue workers calling, "Hang in there; we'll get to you."

Reader had been walking his dog by flashlight when he heard the first small explosion. He took his dog to his nearby home and returned to shine his light on a basement window in helping firemen direct water to the initial flames.

Harvest Of Deer Sets New Mark

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio hunters harvested a record 2,980 deer on the first day of the 1975 deer gun season Monday, the state Division of Wildlife reports.

The opening day total represents a 51 per cent increase over the 1974 first day take of 1,975 deer.

"Hunters are aware the Ohio deer herd is at an all-time high of 80,000 and this, coupled with the clear weather conditions on Monday, created an ideal situation for hunting," said division Chief Dale Haney.

Haney said hunters in Ashtabula County recorded the highest total with 251, followed by Muskingum with 241, Trumbull 217, Athens 203, Washington 166, Morgan 150, Vinton 129, Meigs 127, Williams 103 and Perry 96.

Police Probe Immunities Granted

CINCINNATI (AP)—Three of four men granted immunity from prosecution have testified before a special Hamilton County grand jury probing possible corruption in the Cincinnati Police Division.

All four were connected with tavern operations in the city, court officials said. The fourth man was scheduled to appear today.

William Poulous, Andrew Stanley and Charles Noiman all testified after Hamilton County Prosecutor Simon Leis Jr., asked for immunity for them.

However, Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge William S. Mathews said the men would not be immune from prosecution on charges other than crimes unearthed in testimony before the grand jury.

Hyman Baumeister, the fourth man, at first refused to testify Tuesday. He had asked for a lawyer before agreeing to appear before the grand jury.

Leis said testimony from the four was needed "for a full and complete investigation of criminal conduct which may have occurred."

Hayes Ponders Favorite Son Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wayne L. Hayes, D-Ohio, will decide within the next few weeks whether to be a statewide favorite-son candidate in the June presidential primary, an aide said Tuesday.

The spokesman said the 19th District Democrat is talking to state party leaders about a possible statewide race. He said Hayes probably will run as a favorite son in his own district, as he has in previous elections, and in about five adjacent districts.

Village Must Resubmit Plans For HUD Grant

South Bloomfield officials were to make some clerical changes in their application for federal Housing and Urban Development monies to create a village park, councilmen learned Monday.

The revised schedule will have to be resubmitted to the Columbus HUD office for final determination. The section to be revised concerns housing status in the village, and will have to include more detailed information.

South Bloomfield and Williamsport are the two villages in Pickaway County contending for the federal money, which is available under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974.

Williamsport is seeking a grant to revamp its natural gas feeder lines.

The village park project in South Bloomfield would include a playground, softball diamond, and tennis courts. The village currently has no park area.

Councilman accepted the resignation of auxiliary policeman

Steve Davis at the Monday meeting. They are currently taking applications to fill his post. Village marshal is Jack Widdig.

Members also learned that their proposed sewage treatment plant project has moved to the 76th position on a revised Environmental Protection Agency regional priority list.

In other business, council reappointed Dave Kraft as village solicitor and granted a resident permission to cut a driveway onto Route 23.

Members present were Mayor David Dresbach, clerk-treasurer Fern Bozman, and councilmen Albert Roese, Russell Toole, Ronald Kanipes, and Marvin Webster.

Class AAA Football Stars Selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coach Mike Currence and fullback Joe Portale of mythical state champion Lakewood St. Edward landed two of the prize plums today on The Associated Press' Ohio Class AAA high school football team.

Currence, leading St. Edward to 10 straight regular season victories, was named the Ohio Coach of the Year.

Portale, a raw-boned 213-pound senior coveted by the nation's major colleges, earned the Back of the Year title for gaining 1,209 yards and scoring 20 touchdowns during the season.

Pat Boggs, 6-foot-2, 210-pound senior linebacker for Upper Arlington, was hailed as the State Lineman of the Year. Also highly sought by big-time college powers, Boggs participated in an average of 26 tackles a game this fall.

The selections, based strictly on regular season performances, were made with the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The 23-player first team, all seniors, offers college recruiters a bonanza. It's equipped with tall, heavy linemen and a bevy of big, strong, quick backs.

There were no first team repeaters since the No. 1 squad a year ago also was filled entirely with seniors.

Portale led a backfield including quarterbacks Dave Wilson of Findlay and Roch Hontas of Canton McKinley and running backs Ernie Washington of East Liverpool and Tyrone Hicks of Warren Harding.

The offensive line was headed by 6-8, 235-pound end Ron Barwig of Willoughby South, the tackles, 6-3, 230-pound Mark Thuney of Kettering Alter and 6-4, 240 John Schober of Findlay, and Mike Linn, a 6-2, 215-pound guard from Steubenville.

Other first team offensive linemen were Marietta end Mark Geisler, Akron Garfield guard Dan Deger and center Tom Beaver of Columbus Whetstone.

Boggs paced a classy trio of linebackers on defense. The other first team selections were Jeff Pelusi, a 225-pounder from Youngstown Chaney, and Greg Cobb of Washington C.H. Miami Trace, 190 pounds.

Landing defensive line berths were ends Henry Pate of Sandusky Perkins and Chris Carr of Kettering Fairmont West, tackles Bobby Smith of Toledo Libbey and Doug Marsh of Akron East and middle guard John McCafferty of Cleveland West Tech.

In the No. 1 defensive backfield were Jeff Kraus of Cincinnati Colerain, Steve Swinehart of Lancaster and Gene Bell of East Liverpool. Kraus also excelled at running back and Swinehart as a top quarterback.

Spirits Rip Colonels; Win 122-112

CINCINNATI (AP) — "We're gonna be a monster," says Marvin Barnes, issuing a storm warning to the American Basketball Association.

The second-year standout of the St. Louis Spirits Tuesday night marked his return after an eight-game absence, scoring 29 points in a 122-112 victory over the Kentucky Colonels.

But having Barnes back in the lineup was just one reason for high spirits in St. Louis today.

Earlier Tuesday, it was announced that the Spirits had obtained four highly-regarded members of the Utah Stars, who folded due to financial stress.

"I can't wait," enthused the 6-foot-8 Barnes. "I'm going to welcome them with open arms. I want to play on a championship team and we're gonna have one of the strongest teams in either league."

In the only other ABA game Tuesday night, the San Antonio Spurs beat the Virginia Squires 119-101.

The Spirits played like a team that didn't need the addition of 6-foot-11 forward Moses Malone. All-league guard Ron Boone, 6-foot-11 forward Randy Denton and rookie Steve Green.

Barnes, who hadn't touched a basketball in two weeks, tossed in 21 points in the first half and helped St. Louis dominate the backboards. The Spirits outrebounded Kentucky by 17.

Griffin's Next Stop Rose Bowl

NEW YORK (AP) — Where does Archie Griffin go from here?

Well, his next stop is Pasadena, Calif., for a Rose Bowl date with UCLA and then, hopefully, it's on to pro football for the only player ever to win the Heisman Trophy twice.

Hopefully, that is, because Griffin stands only 5-foot-9—if you press him he'll confess to 5-8½—and weighs 184 pounds, a drop in the bucket among all those gargantuan pro linemen he'll be running into.

"I'd like to play pro ball," Griffin said Tuesday at the Downtown Athletic Club where he was announced as the Heisman winner for an unprecedented second year in a row. "I want to help my family out because they've helped me in all my endeavors."

"But I really don't want to go into that now because we have another game to play and I'd trade both Heismans for the national championship. That's been the goal of our team since I was a freshman. This is the closest now we've ever come. People think of the national championship as more of a team thing than the Heisman Trophy."

Coach Woody Hayes of No. 1-ranked Ohio State, who accompanied Griffin from Columbus, Ohio, for Tuesday's announcement—Griffin will formally receive the trophy at a dinner Dec. 11—has no doubts about Griffin's future in the pro ranks.

"Maybe he's not as big as they like, but he's as brave as they like," Hayes said. "I have no doubt he can play in the pros. He epitomizes everything you want in an athlete—great ability and great courage—and he's the best leader we've ever had."

"He combines speed and power and runs the ball better than any back we've ever had. And I've never seen a player who engenders the respect in other players that he does."

Griffin won the 1975 Heisman by outdistancing running backs Chuck Muncie of California and Ricky Bell of Southern Cal. Griffin received 454 first-place ballots, 167 seconds and 104 thirds from 888 sports writers and broadcasters across the country. On a 3-2-1 basis, that amounted to 1,800 points. Muncie (145-104-87) received 730 point to 708 for Bell (70-169-160).

Rounding out the top 10 finishers were running backs Tony Dorsett of Pitt, Joe Washington of Oklahoma and Jimmy DuBose of Florida, quarterback John Scarria of UCLA, running back Gordon Bell of Michigan, defensive tackle Leroy Selmon of Oklahoma and quarterback Gene Swick of Toledo.

CJHS Ninth Graders Edged By Greenfield

Circleville's ninth grade basketball team was edged by Greenfield, 35-33, Tuesday in the old McClain gymnasium.

The margin of victory came at the foul line where the McClain cagers connected on 11 of 24 opportunities and the little Tigers on only five of 10.

The game was tied 10-10 at the end of the first quarter. Circleville led 22-14 at halftime and 28-24 at the end of the third period.

Brian Sealock and Richard Elsea paced Circleville's attack with 10 points each. Jeff Strawser, injured midway through the third quarter and benched the rest of the tilt, tallied six. Tim Pontius also scored six while Pete Harrison tallied one.

For the host, John Cannon was the leading scorer with 20 points. Circleville ninth graders will host Chillicothe Mt. Logan 4:30 p.m. Thursday in the Mill Street Gymnasium.

CHS Booster Club Meeting Set Tonight

The Circleville Athletic Booster Club will meet 8 p.m. tonight in the high school cafeteria.

Basketball coach James Bailey will discuss the first two games of the season. All members and basketball fans are invited to attend the meeting.

Dan Beaver's 57-yard field goal for Illinois against Purdue in October was the longest in the Big Ten in 76 years.

Griffin carried four of the country's five sections—East, South, Midwest and Southwest—finishing behind Muncie in the Far West. He carried 245 times for 1,357 yards, finishing seventh nationally behind Bell, the leader, No. 3 Dorsett, and No. 4 Muncie.

Shrine Bowl Set For Saturday

Kickoff for the Fourth Annual All-Ohio Shrine Bowl is scheduled for 12:30 P.M. Saturday at Ohio Stadium in Columbus.

The color and fun of a Shrine Parade will precede the game at 11:30 a.m., and six Ohio high school bands will be spotlighted with Shrine marching units during the halftime break.

The game features 58 of the top senior football players in the state from 33 participating colleges and universities.

After three previous defeats, the West Squad will get a strong offensive boost this year from the first man in the history of college football to surpass the 8000 yard mark in total offense. Gene Swick, the brilliant University of Toledo quarterback will be directing the West Squad.

Many professional scouts will be present to watch the star athletes in action.

The annual charity contest is played each year in Ohio Stadium to raise money for the Shrine Hospital Program at the Cincinnati Burns Institute.

Six outstanding Ohio high school marching bands have been chosen by Shrine officials to participate in the halftime show. Sponsored by each of the six Ohio Shrine Temples, the bands include: Morgan Raider Marching Band, McConnellsville, Ohio, by Aladdin Temple, Columbus; Northmont High School Marching Band, Antioch Temple, Dayton; Liberty Center High School Marching Band, Zenobia Temple, Toledo; North Canton Hoover High School Marching Band, Tadmor Temple, Akron; Walnut Hills High School Marching Band, Syrian Temple, Cincinnati; and Bay Village High School Marching Band, Al Koran Temple, Cleveland.

Top Ohio college coaches will be directing the squads.

The East Squad coaching staff is headed by Jerry Schweickert, head coach of John Carroll University. Schweickert's assistants include: William Hess, head coach, Ohio University, James McKinley, head coach, Central State University; and Lee Tressel, head coach, Baldwin-Wallace College.

Tickets for the annual charity contest are available through Shrines and at the following Circleville business locations: Super X Drug Store, Lucy's Beauty Salon, Hill's Union 76 Station and Carl D. Hemming.

The seventh graders have a 1-1 record for the season. Scoring for Teays Valley were Pat Roese with eight, Rusty Sturgell six, Bill Neal four, Scott Ford two and Mike Roberts two.

For the eighth graders, John Sanders scored 19; Dean Brown 10, Scott Bartholomew seven, R. D. Roese six, Randy Riegel four, Ron Fausnaugh three, Shawn Blue two, Dave Myers two, Jeff Ralston two, Mike Osbourne two and Mark Hoover two. The eighth grade has won both of its starts this season.

Next action for the Viking Junior High comes Thursday at New Albany.

Junior High Tiger Teams Lose Games

Circleville's 7th and 8th grade basketball teams both fell to strong Greenfield units Tuesday night.

A poor fourth quarter offense spelled the difference, as Greenfield McClain rolled to a 30-23 win over the Circleville 8th grade Tigers.

Greenfield led 8-6 after the first period and 16-14 at the half. The Circleville cagers cut the margin to one, 22-21, after three periods. But McClain iced the game in the final stanza.

Mark Morrison paced the local Tigers with 8 points, Anthony Smith canned 7, and Mike Harrison, Keith Lewis, Brad Allen, and Brad Willoughby had 2 each.

Mark Kellis and Dave Zoldak had 8 points each for McClain and Troy Hull had 6.

The 8th graders will take to the court Thursday in a 4:15 p.m. contest at Mt. Logan.

The 7th graders managed only four-point efforts in the second and fourth periods as McClain rolled to a 42-24 win.

Greenfield led 12-8 after the first period, 31-12 at the half, and 35-20 after three quarters.

Dallas Hettinger scored 8 points to pace Circleville, Brad Fisher canned six, Bobby Milstead and Rodney Bumgarner had four each, and Mike Lundberg had 2.

The 7th grade Tigers will host Teays Valley Dec. 11 in a 5 p.m. contest.

Bullets Top L.A. Lakers; Win 107-104

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Washington Bullets have been waiting for Dave Bing to play up to expectations since the beginning of the National Basketball Association season.

Bing, a six-time All-Star, twotime All-NBA, and former league scoring champion and Rookie of the Year, finally did it Tuesday night. And the sputtering Bullets, overwhelming favorites to repeat at Central Division champions, broke a four-game losing streak with a 107-104 comeback victory over the Los Angeles Lakers.

The veteran Bing, who had averaged 22.6 points per game in nine years with Detroit before being traded to Washington for Kevin Porter prior to this season, had averaged only 12.7 in 15 games with Washington.

Against the Lakers, he scored 22, including 13 in the fourth quarter and eight in the final 6½ minutes, after the Bullets had rallied to tie the score 95-95.

In other NBA games, the New Orleans Jazz whipped the Buffalo Braves 108-96, the Houston Rockets trounced the Chicago Bulls 91-77, the Seattle SuperSonics downed the Kansas City Kings 101-90, the Phoenix Suns trimmed the Golden State Warriors 115-98, the Boston Celtics edged the New York Knicks 103-100, and the Cleveland Cavaliers topped the Portland Trail Blazers 91-80.

Wes Unseld added 20 points and grabbed 19 rebounds for the Bullets, while Los Angeles' Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 30 points.

area and the YMCA ski program. The ski presentation is open to the public.

The Y Learn To Ski package is very reasonably priced. It includes 5 hours of skiing instructions, approximately 10 hours of free skiing, equipment, and transportation. The individual skier would pay $16 per night without transportation for the same package.

On Wednesday at 5 p.m. a chartered bus will leave the YMCA, arriving at Clear Fork approximately 7:15 p.m. and departing from the resort at 10 p.m. with arrival in Circleville at 12:15 a.m.

The ski package requires a minimum of 20 registered skiers for each of the two five week sessions. Instructors are not required for the advanced skiers interested in skiing only. The price, however, will be the same.

A special price has been set for extra skiers who are not signed up for the package, but wish to ski during the 10 week program.

All registrations for the first session must be completed by December 27 and January 19 for the second session. Additional skiing information and Christmas gift certificates can be obtained from the YMCA office.

Morrison's 15 Points Paces Otterbein

Terry Morrison, a graduate of Circleville High School, paced Otterbein College to a 68-59 win over previously unbeaten Rio Grande Tuesday.

Morrison, a 5-9 senior guard for the Otters, connected on four field goals and seven charity tosses for his 15 point total. He is a former winner of the Bob Bowsher Award, presented annually by The Herald to the outstanding Basketball player in Pickaway County.

Teamsters Plan Huge Demands

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Teamsters Union, contending that the ceiling on cost-of-living increases has cost its members money, will demand its removal when its negotiators open talks next week, a union report says.

And the bargaining team that will be working toward a new three-year master contract also will ask the nation's trucking companies to raise wages $2.50 an hour, a dollar more than had been expected, the report says.

The Akron Beacon Journal reported Tuesday it had obtained a copy of the report and confirmed it with a local Teamster official.

The Teamsters report dated Nov. 25 also says the union wants pension, health and welfare funds increased even more than the raise that must come as the industry brings its pension practices into conformity with a new federal law.

Talks on a new three-year contract are scheduled to begin Dec. 11 in Washington D.C. The current pact that covers about 450,000 Teamsters expires next March 31. Under the present agreement, union drivers average a minimum of $7.05 an hour. When their mileage total is substantial, they may get more under a mileage rate of 17.9 cents per mile. The report says the Teamsters will propose increasing that rate by six cents over the next three years. The union also will ask that hourly pay be raised $1.50 effective March 1 and then 75 cents in each of the next two years. Union sources indicated that $2.50 total is considered to be a starting point which the final compromise will reduce. But Richard Collinson, president of Teamster Local 24 here, predicted that reaching a settlement will be as tough as in any past bargaining.

The report says the Teamsters will demand twice-yearly payment of cost-of-living increases, along with removal of the current maximum of 11 cents an hour that's determined on an annual basis.

Collinson said the cost-of-living limit and lack of any such provision in the first year of the current contract have cost Teamster members 79 cents an hour so far.

As for pensions, industry sources have predicted the trucking companies will ask the Teamsters to absorb the cost occasion by the new federal law. The companies apparently hoped the union would accept lower direct raises and fringe benefits. Collinson said he doesn't expect the union will be willing to do so.

Finally, the proposal also calls for establishing separate negotiation procedures to deal with union requests for major and costly safety features.

School Suit Planned As Lever

CINCINNATI (AP)—The general council for the NAACP said the civil rights organization will use desegregation suits against five school districts in Ohio in an attempt to place responsibility for desegregation with state governments nationally.

Nathaniel Jones, in a telephone interview from Cleveland where he attended a school trial, said state officials will force local boards of education to desegregate schools once they realize they are destined to lose lawsuits.

The NAACP has suits pending in federal courts involving school districts in Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Dayton and Youngstown. "The state has the primary responsibility for education," said Jones.

"If we can establish the state's responsibility (for school desegregation) it won't be necessary to bring any more suits."

"The NAACP has directed its efforts toward Ohio. What happens in this state is important to all northern and western states," Jones said.

"In addition to Cleveland and Cincinnati, NAACP lawyers are challenging all school segregation on Columbus, Dayton and Youngstown. "We have more current suits in Ohio than in any other state. Segregation in Ohio schools is more extreme than in other places," Jones said.

FDR's Daughter Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Anna Roosevelt Halsted, 69, the only daughter among the five children of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, died Monday of cancer.

The National Shrine of St. Dymphna at Massillon State Hospital is a memorial to St. Dymphna, patroness of those afflicted with mental and nervous disorders.

Soviets Permanent Buyers Of Grain?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Soviet Union is likely to be a permanent fixture in the international grain market, the assistant secretary of agriculture for international affairs said Tuesday.

Richard E. Bell, during an appearance at the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation annual convention, said it is unlikely the Soviet Union will ever produce enough grain to meet its needs.

"I don't think they have the capability to produce the quantity of grain they need," Bell said. "So, over a period of time, we expect them to continue to be large, continual buyers. "I look upon the Soviet Union as being almost a permanent market," he said.

Bell said Soviet agricultural efforts are faced with problems of both terrain and weather which decrease the possibility of regular good harvests.

Although they "will have a good year from time to time," he said, the overall result is a shortage of domestic grain. In addition, he said, the Soviets must spend a sizeable portion of their resources on other sectors of the economy if they hope to fulfill promises to their people of a rising standard of living.

Bell also said that although the Soviet Union is the most publicized foreign buyer of American grain, it is not the largest.

India buys the most American grain, he said, with other sizeable exports to Western Europe, Japan, Eastern Europe, the Middle East and Latin America.

"That's something that's very important, but it's not mentioned much," he said.

Bell said the United States exports about 50 per cent of all grain in world trade. But he dismissed any notion that the United States could establish a grain cartel similar to the oil cartel of Middle East countries.

He said operation of a grain cartel would violate national policy.

It also would not work, he said, because consuming nations could change their consumption patterns too quickly and because there are too many exporting nations.

Dead Man Got Checks 22 Years

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Yvonne M. Alford says her physician father has been receiving checks each year since 1953 from the Ohio Bureau of Workmen's Compensation for medical care for injured workers. He died 22 years ago.

"Something is fouled up someplace and someone didn't get the word," Mrs. Alford said in a telephone interview today from her home in Amherst, 30 miles from Cleveland. She said she has sent the checks back each year with the notation that her father, Dr. Arthur F. McQueen, is deceased, but has received no reply.

Reached by telephone in the state capital in Columbus, David B. Godfrey, deputy administrator of the bureau, said his staff spent a few hours investigating the case but "couldn't find any correlation to that particular name in our files."

A special legislative committee is investigating Ohio's Workmen's Compensation system.

"We would have something if the checks were sent out," said Godfrey. "As far as I know, he didn't receive any checks from our bureau. My people tell me something similar happened a week ago and it turned out that those checks were from Social Security. Her father might have got them from Social Security."

"No, it wasn't from Social Security," said Mrs. Alford. "The envelopes were Workmen's Compensation envelopes. I don't remember what was on the checks. I can't prove I got them. I have no photostats."

Godfrey said his staff is continuing to look into the matter. He said the system is computerized.

Mrs. Alford said her father had been a physician in Amherst for about 40 years. He died July 18, 1953, at the age of 68. Since then, she said, he has received a check once or twice a year for about $15 or $20.

Mrs. Alford said the checks were made out to her father at his old office address in Amherst, but were forwarded to her by the post office. She explained that Amherst is a small town, once with only 3,000 population but now up to about 10,000, and postal workers knew she was Dr. McQueen's daughter.

The last check she received was about six months ago, she said, and she returned it to the regional bureau in Cleveland.

"I thought maybe they could get through where I couldn't," she said. "I thought I'd try another avenue. I've received no word since then."

She said it is possible that some of the checks during the first few years after her father's death were back pay. "But they would have to be sent back anyway to be rewritten through the estate. They couldn't be cashed."

"After a while, I began to think, Lord haven't they caught it yet. I just assumed it was the wrong doctor, a mixup. Some doctor is not being paid, I thought. Amherst is a fairly small town. I knew a great many patients. The name of the patients taken care of listed on the checks, I had never heard of. It is kind of funny when you come right down to it . . . that it takes this long."

Conservation Plan Backed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbia Gas of Ohio has endorsed a proposal by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO) to conserve natural gas by compensating businessmen for the higher costs of using oil or other alternate fuels.

Columbia, in a pricing proposal submitted to the PUCO, said it is willing to "provide an economic incentive to customers to induce them to use their alternate fuels and release their natural gas allocations to the use of the curtailed customers who do not have such capability."

The utility said there currently are businessmen who could use oil or other fuels "but for economic reasons elect not to employ the higher priced alternate fuels."

Columbia suggested gas utilities pay business customers the difference in fuel costs if they convert, plus up to 10 per cent in addition to offset handling charges and differences in process efficiencies involved in the switch.

The PUCO last month suggested such a program to stimulate fuel conversion by business and industry in Ohio. They asked all gas utilities to respond by Dec. 9.

Torture Case Investigated

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Dr. John Delaney, superintendent of Apple Creek State Institute, says a hearing will be held Thursday for three attendants accused of negligence in the case of a woman inmate who had her fingernails and two nails on each foot ripped out.

Delaney said the institution's committee on resident abuse reached a unanimous decision alleging neglect after questioning eight employees and deliberating seven hours.

"It is neglect that someone had their fingernails torn off," said Delaney.

He said the committee urged that the State Highway Patrol continue its investigation of the case involving Lottie Ann Leonhart, 26.

The woman now is a patient in a Youngstown hospital.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Don't lose confidence in your ability to produce the results you want — even if temporarily stymied. Keep trying. Some dandy advantages on your side.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): The position of Venus now suggests that you stress your innate artistry and create those clever "twists" which make the difference between the so-so and top attainment.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Mercury continues favorable. A profitable day indicated for those of you who capitalize on your innate imagination and originality. In the personal area, emotions may rise and fall, unless you maintain equilibrium and poise.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Do not sell the opposition short and do heed suggestions from worthwhile sources. You may experience tendencies toward restlessness now. Curb them, and you can attain much.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Now you have a chance to display your showmanship; also your gift for being able to come up with a switch in tactics that changes the humdrum into the lively.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): In both business and personal matters, use only time-tested procedures. Don't attempt anything risky. And DON'T try for the unreasonable.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): An encouraging period. Stress your self-confidence, powers of concentration, and be patient for those results which will come more easily if you remain unperturbed.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): You normally aspire to a position of leadership and inspire others with respect for your special abilities. Here is a brand new chance to put over a project in tip-top fashion.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Stimulating influences now foster inventiveness and creativity generally. An excellent period in which to try out new devices and methods, to capitalize on unique ideas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Excellent planetary influences. You will not have to strain to accomplish now. A good period for building up your potentials, reviving a project previously set aside.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your gift for capitalizing on your talents, yet keeping yourself in the background, can boost your gains many fold. This day needs vitality, good, workable ideas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You may be going through a period of disinterest, thereby making errors through miscalculation or insufficient thought. Be careful!

YOU BORN TODAY are truly a "free spirit" — rebelling at convention and orthodoxy but, nevertheless, curbing your instincts and sticking to any job you have started until it is finished — thoroughly and well. All this because your passion for perfection is as strong as your love of freedom and hatred for the tedious. You are an extremely versatile individual and, according to your inclinations and education, of course, could succeed in almost any career of your choosing. Satitarians will make able business executives, lawyers, physicians, writers, journalists, musicians, dramatists, critics and entertainers.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The rehearsal piano was pounding out the Jerome Kern tune as Mary Francis Crosby swirled about the floor with choreographer Peter Gennaro.

Across the hall, Ginger Rogers, looking trim and athletic as ever, was hard at work on preparations for a new nightclub act.

In a small room downstairs, Bing and Kathryn Crosby and Fred Astaire were running through a scene for Bing's Christmas special on CBS tonight under the scrutiny of producer-directors Dwight Hemion and Gary Smith.

It was a show-bizzy day at the Academy of Music and Dance, a studio on Doheny Drive in Beverly Hills. When the Crosbys and Astaire finished the run-through, they joined the rest of the TV rehearsal group upstairs. Bing and Fred stopped for hugs with Ginger, who was there by coincidence.

Astaire and Crosby gathered around a piano for a rendition of the Carole King song, "You've Got a Friend," accompanied by the accomplished guitar of Harry Crosby, Bing's handsome 17-year-old son. Also aboard for tonight's special is 14-year-old Nathaniel Crosby.

Between numbers, the two men who ruled song and dance in their generation reminisced with a visitor.

"When did we last work together?" Crosby mused. "I guess we must have done some benefits or something, huh, Fred?"

"I don't think so," Astaire answered. "I think it must have 'Blue Skies' in 1946. That was when I announced my retirement."

"Because of the picture, Fred?" Crosby asked.

"No, no. I thought I was going to quit. Of course it didn't last for very long. I always said if I ever retired again, I wasn't going to tell anyone."

"I never had the inclination," Crosby added. "Not like Sinatra. Everybody knew that was a joke. What was he going to retire to? He didn't have anything in his life but his work. With me it would be different. I've got horses and golf and a lot of activities that I'm involved in."

Bing wandered off to watch his daughter rehearse the "I Won't Dance" number. The song holds true for Astaire, who becomes adamant when the question arises.

"No, I'm not going to dance in this show and I won't ever again," he insisted. "Oh, Gene Kelly and I do a few steps to get from one scene to the next in 'That's Entertainment, Too.' But that's it. I won't dance."

"Look — I'm 76. No one in his right mind at that age would dance the way I used to. They talk about athletes retiring when they're 39. What about dancers?"

Crosby, who is 71, seems much more fit than he did at the time of last year's Christmas show. He was recovering then from an operation to remove a nonmalignancy from his lung. He now seems to have more bounce, and his singing voice has more resonance.

Logan Elm Board Wants PRJVS Representation

A discussion was held among the Logan Elm Board members Monday night concerning the local representation on the Pickaway-Ross Vocational Board of Education. The other members appointed Frank Seimer to meet with the Pickaway County Board of Education along with a representative from the Westfall board concerning the lack of voice of these two school districts on the vocational board.

Presently, the vocational board has three members from the county board and none from either Logan Elm or Westfall. The proposal of the two boards is to have a delegate from Logan Elm and one from Westfall to serve on the vocational board along with a single member from the county board.

In other action, the board took action on three families living outside the district whose children attend the Logan Elm Schools. One family was given a 60-day adjustment period tuition free because of a fire. The second family has moved from the district and was given 60 days tuition free to move back into the district. The board found that the third family lives in Ross County and determined that those children should attend the Ross County Schools. Their attendance in the Logan Elm Schools was defined as unauthorized.

Under personnel, the board accepted the resignation of one substitute bus driver. As a result of a bus incident which was reported to the board by Goble Branham, transportation coordinator, the board took action to relieve one bus driver from his duties permanently. Another bus driver involved in the same incident was given a reprimand and placed on probation for the remainder of the school year.

Harry Hoffer was offered a supplemental contract as chess coach and Opal Sims was also offered a supplemental contract to provide in-service training to the Title I reading teachers.

The board granted two days personal leave to Carolyn Gamble. Authorization was also given for the naming of one staff member to attend the Title IX Conference in Columbus on Dec. 8. Title IX concerns non-discrimination in the public school district on the basis of sex.

Roger Egan, booster president, was present at the meeting and requested board permission to conduct a lottery type money raising project. The board disapproved of the proposal but commended Egan and the booster club for their outstanding accomplishments this year. The board members also further pledged their help to the club in as many ways as possible.

Also present at the meeting was Victor Pontius who explained the proposed summer field trip study to the board. A discussion was held at the last board meeting concerning the trip and approval was given Monday for the trip if adult volunteers can be obtained since there are no board funds available for the project. The trip is a 21-day excursion to the western part of the United States.

Local superintendent John Henn advised the board that approval from the State Department of Education had been received for both the Titles II and Title III projects. The board then authorized Henn to proceed with the purchases approved under two projects.

Board member Virginia Wood proposed a resolution to encourage the lunchroom personnel to continue toward receiving training for their certification in the area of food preparation. The board recognized the cooks' efforts along these lines.

Approval was given for the National Farmers Union to use the Pickaway building according to the new rental policy. No waiver of fee was approved. The board also ruled that all inquiries for the use of the gyms will be answered with strict adherence to the new rental policy. Copies of that policy can be obtained by contacting any of the building principals or the superintendent.

Approval was also given to the Hummel and Plum Insurance Agency to apply for building insurance rates under the Property Institutional Plan.

An in-service training program entitled "Schools Without Failure" was approved for the fourth, fifth and sixth grades at Washington Elementary. A doctoral candidate from Ohio State University will sponsor the program at no cost to the school district.

In his report to the board, Henn advised that it is not legal for the Logan Elm District to contract with the Pickaway County Health Board for health services. The district is ruled out because it lies in two counties and may not use public funds which come from both counties to provide services which would not be available to the students of Laurelville School. That school lies in Hocking County and cannot be served by the Pickaway County Health Board.

The school board may either elect to take the limited services offered by the health board or hire a school nurse. No action was taken in this direction.

Also deferred until the next meeting was action concerning the requirement of a prevailing wage coordinator.

Charles Dean, principal at Laurelville School, will attend an administrative workshop on Dec. 9 in Columbus.

The board also noted that any of the elementary principals who wish to attend the Ohio Association of Elementary School Principals annual conference should notify the clerk.

A very comprehensive report from the teachers at Washington School was presented in written form to the board members by principal Dale Drake. The teachers report three times a year on everything done in the classroom. Each teacher submits two to three typewritten pages on classroom activities.

In final action during the evening, the board voted to extend the meeting until Dec. 22 at 3:30 p.m. At that meeting, financial transfers will be made and suggested repairs will be discussed. The board will also conduct a pre-study of the appropriations for 1976.

State Oil, Gas Drilling Launched

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With a pledge of state support from Gov. James A. Rhodes, Ohio drillers have launched a new drive to encourage drilling of oil and gas wells in the state.

"The industry has outlined a policy which it believes will encourage the drilling of 3,000 wells a year in Ohio for each of the next five years," Rhodes said after meeting Tuesday with Kenner McConnell Jr., president of the Ohio Oil and Gas Association.

Rhodes called that goal reasonable. "In 1967," he noted, "there were 2,600 wells drilled in Ohio, using equipment inferior to what is available today."

The record year for Ohio, according to the state division of oil and gas, was 1964 when 2,835 wells were drilled during the "Morrow County boom."

About 1,000 wells have been drilled so far this year, the division said.

Rhodes said the 3,000-a-year goal for new wells would double Ohio's production of natural gas and ease current shortages.

"You bet its optimistic," McConnell said of the target, "but we're going to ask our people to try to do it."

McConnell said the association's 1,200 members would be encouraged to move forward with new drilling in anticipation of a "favorable climate," which hinges mainly on lack of interference by the federal government.

The association will lobby the Ohio congressional delegation to work for the defeat of a bill before the House that would further erode the depletion allowance, he said.

"At present, the attack is on the deduction of intangible drilling and development costs incurred in oil and gas exploration," McConnell said. "The elimination of this tax incentive, in effect since the beginning of the federal income tax system, would essentially eliminate drilling by independent oil producers in the State of Ohio."

McConnell also called for state assistance in defeating a bill that would continue natural gas price controls and roll back the price of crude oil in an attempt to lower the cost of gas at the pump.

"The President of the United States must be encouraged to veto the bill and the members of the Ohio delegation must be encouraged to uphold that veto," he said.

Rhodes said "state government will do its share to help the oil and gas industry achieve this goal. We expect to work with members of the industry to encourage more drilling." He did not comment on the federal legislation.

The drillers association also said out-of-use wells could be revived through stimulation and retreatment. And the drillers said new techniques should be tried on unexplored areas, such as shale formations, which happen to be one of Rhodes favorite topics.

Demo Governors Eye 1976 Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic governors are trying to show some political muscle now and increase their campaign influence in 1976, but their chairman says they'll do it by seeking to shape issues, not anoint a candidate.

Gov. Philip Noel of Rhode Island, chairman of the Democratic Governors Conference, said Tuesday he wants to make sure governors are heard before the party stakes out its positions in the next presidential campaign. Noel will head the party's 1976 platform committee.

Noel said in the past the governors have paid too little attention to political decisions at the national level and that has led to enactment of programs that are undue burdens on the governors and state governments.

Adams Receives Licenses

ROBERT T. ADAMS

Robert T. Adams, associated with the Bastian Funeral Home in Ashville was issued his embalmers license on October 8 and his funeral directors license on November 18.

A graduate of the University of Cincinnati with an associate degree and the Cincinnati College Mortuary Science he was awarded a "certificate of proficiency in applied embalming" by the director and the embalming professor at the college.

After passing his National Board exams he began his apprenticeship on Sept. 24, 1974 under Warren J. Bastian and has been employed there since.

Warren J. Bastian received his embalmers and funeral directors license in 1947 and Evelyn Bastian received her funeral directors license in 1972.

"We're 36 strong and we represent over 90 per cent of the American people," Noel said in an interview. "What I've tried to do is make sure the Democratic governors become actively involved in presidential politics."

But the numbers did not seem to impress Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

Alone among the 10 candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination, he spurned the governors' call to appear before them Tuesday to talk about federal-state relations and campaign issues in general.

The other nine Democratic candidates were there for a day-long series of appearances that finally led Gov. William L. Waller of Mississippi to comment, "One thing that we're suffering from is that we have too many candidates."

Waller, who will be leaving office shortly, said he thinks the Democrats should steer away from candidates and personalities and deal more directly with solutions to problems.

"I'm a little bit aghast ... at the lack of enthusiastic solutions offered by the candidates," he said. "I hope we can get more of a platform that's positive in its construction."

Noel said a first step in that direction was for the governors to find out how the candidates view the role of the states.

"We've never had anything like this before," he said after the candidate forum.

But governors in both parties have tried, and usually failed, to make their collective influence felt in presidential campaigns.

Usually it has been for lack of a consensus. But much of the political power that governors once wielded in their own states has slipped away with the increasing number of presidential primary elections and with the Democratic reform measures designed to broaden participation in the nominating process.

Noel said he wasn't trying to get Democratic governors aligned behind any candidate, although he thinks personally it might be a good idea.

Noel said if the governors did get together and try to pick a candidate now or during the primaries, they would look like political bosses.
